BALSAMIC VINEGAR OF MODENA Protected Geographic Indication

A blend of wine vinegar and concentrated or slow-cooked grape must (20% min - 70% max), aged in wood barrels for a minimum of 2 months up to 3 years.

Protected Geographical Indication (IGP/PGI) is the certification given by the European Commission, ensuring Balsamic Vinegars are produced in a traditional manner, within the Modena region of Italy.

Only Balsamic Vinegar of Modena with the P.G.I. (or I.G.P.) Certification Seal should be considered authentic Balsamic Vinegar of Modena.

The different qualities of Balsamic Vinegar of Modena P.G.I. are produced for specific culinary needs. The percentage of grape must used for each blend indicates the density and quality of the finished Balsamic Vinegar.

COOKING WINE

By European law, Italian wine MUST be made 100% from grapes.
With domestically manufactured “wine,” you never know what’s inside the bottle...

Italian cooking wines start their lives as hand selected wines, made 100% from grapes, that are aged in wooden casks to obtain a softer mouthfeel and rich, round taste. This combination produces a cooking wine with a truly complex wine flavor that remains even after the alcohol is cooked down in a recipe.

Domestic cooking “wines” can be made from Industrial quality wines blended with up to 90% fortified wine/alcohol concentrate (from sugar or grain); which, frequently, is not declared on the label. These “wines” are not aged and produce an overly salty one-dimensional flavor profile. Once the alcohol is cooked down, you’re left with an overly salty, briny, unpleasant flavor profile.

Compared to Italian cooking wine, recipes require more than 2 times the volume of Domestic cooking “wine” to come close to the desired flavor profile of the recipe.
